production of medium corrugated at this time."

Knight also said that there are no plans for expansion of the plant in the near future. "That has also been speculation," says Knight, "But there are a number of factors involved, and we have no plans for expansion right now."

Present plans call for direct employment of 150 people. "When I say direct employment I mean people that will work right here in the plant. There will be wood cutters and truckers bringing material to the plant, but they will not be direct employees of Virginia Fiber," says Knight.

Inflation is being felt by Virginia Fiber, as it is by everybody. Completion cost estimates have already increased by about four million dollars and another sharp increase could be in the near future as building materials and equipment continue to increase in cost.

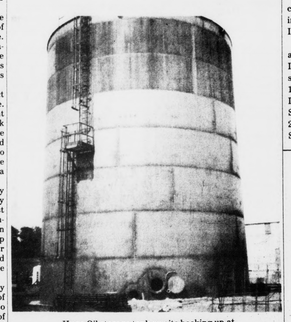
One factor which may determine the future plans of Virginia Fiber, relating to expansion or the production of news print, is the availability of pulp wood in the three county area surrounding the plant.

Knight says, "Our initial survey indicated that there is enough hard woods and pine to supply our needs. Of course other surveys are being conducted which will determine the continuing supply of the necessary wood."

The majority of the labor force is expected to come from the counties of Appomattox, Amherst and Nelson with only highly skilled workers being transferred into Riverville from Virginia Fiber plants throughout the southeast.

The new plant will be outfitted with the most modern environmental control devices and the company will make all efforts not to disturb the natural beauty of the surrounding area.

Virginia Fiber is a welcome addition to the Appomattox County area and should certainly to be a boom to the economy of the three county area of which it has become an integral part.



Huge Oil storage tank awaits hooking up at construction site of Virginia Fiber plant at Riverville. Tank towers above four story structure being built at site and will hold 500,000 gallons of No. 6 fuel oil.

Puritan Pulpit

"But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst" John 4:14

He who is a believer in Jesus finds enough in his Lord to satisfy him now, and to content him forevermore. The believer is not the man whose days are weary for want of comfort, and whose nights are long from absence of heart - cheering thought, for he finds in religion such a spring of joy, such a fountain of consolation, that he is content and happy. Put him in a dungeon and he will find good company; place him in a barren wilderness, he will eat the bread of heaven, drive him away from friendship, he will find his heart will still be fixed, trusting in the Lord. The heart is as insatiable as the grave till Jesus enters it, and then it is a cup full to overflowing. There is such a fulness in Christ that He alone is the believer's all. The true saint is so completely satisfied with the all-sufficiency of Jesus that he thirsts no more - - except it be for deeper draughts of the living fountain.

In that same manner, believer, shall you thirst; it shall not be a thirst of pain but of loving desire; you will find it a sweet thing to be panting after a fuller enjoyment of Jesus' love. One in days gone by said, "I have been sinking my bucket down into the well full often, but now my thirst after Jesus has become so insatiable, that I long to put the well itself to my lips, and drink right on." Is this the feeling of your heart now, believer? Do you feel that all your desires are satisfied in Jesus, and that you have no want now, but to know more of Him and to have closer fellowship with Him? Then Come continually to the fountain and take of the water of life freely. Jesus will never think you take too much, but will ever welcome you saying, "Drink, yes, drink abundantly, Oh beloved."

What everyone is afraid to say to tobacco farmers.

"It's been a rough year."
It's as simple as that. Costs are soaring and profits are barely getting off the ground.
At Fidelity National Bank we know enough about farming to realize what kind of a year it's been. And what that's done to your profit margins.
But we also know that no matter how little there is left over from this year's sales, you've got to save as much of it as possible to get you through to next year's. And pay for seed, fertilizer, labor and equipment along the way.
Because we understand this fact—that your financial needs are not like everyone else's—we also understand that not every savings plan is right for you.
And we're ready to show you one that is—with continuous compounding of interest so your money can grow as quickly as you need it to. And full freedom of withdrawal so you can get it when you need it, too.
Fidelity National Bank.
When we say we're out to help you grow, we mean it.
